The property lies some 15 miles NW of Merritt in the valley of Skuhost Creek, 8 miles south of the producing Lornex mine. Although mainly obscured by overburden, Mr. Morgan says there are small but well scattered copper showings on the property's limited outcrop. Part of the property was formerly held by B. Nesbitt interests and received preliminary and inconclusive exploration by Arlington Silver Mines Ltd. and, under option, by Cominco Ltd. That work comprised bulldozer trenching, reconnaissance geology and geochemistry in the vicinity of the copper showings.

BCNL JAN 14/77

Mr. Morgan's program has two phases. Phase 1, at an estimated cost of $10,000, would include line cutting, induced polarization and geochemical surveys followed by a consultant's evaluation of results. If the evaluation indicates drill targets, then Mr. Morgan's Phase 2 would provide for percussion drilling such targets to be followed, where that might encounter copper mineralization, by diamond drilling, the cost of this drilling phase being limited to $25,000.
