

NOTES ON VARIOUS TRAILS TO TASSOO HARBOUR

From talk with E. C. Stevens, Skidegate, B. C.

From the head of Sewell Inlet to the end of the North Arm of Tassoo Harbour is about six miles. The trail is level and good except where logging operations have strewn debris over it. A flat bottomed skiff can be rowed on the row of lagoons which extend about two miles from the head of Sewell Inlet where the most of the logging debris is on the trail.

The valley through which the trail runs can be seen from a plane traveling from Queen Charlotte City to Tassoo for some distance beyond the head of the lagoons. A canoe is, or was, hidden at the Tassoo end of the trail.

From Crescent Inlet to the South Arm of Tassoo is only about two miles and climbs to about 800 feet elevation. This trail was O. K. in 1942; its present condition is unknown.

From Pacofi, on Selwyn Inlet, to Two Mountain Bay on Tassoo Harbour, 4½ miles, passes over a ridge at several hundred feet elevation and is supposed to be in fair condition. From a plane it can be seen that logging has extended nearly to the top of a ridge more or less half way from Pacofi, and is said to be continuing. At Two Mountain Bay there is a cabin in good condition which was built by the Air Force during the war.
