

Helicopters provide drill crew changes and take the exploration geologist to check core and spot new holes. In the field, often quick decisions must be made based on the weather or access and not genetic models. Often one is found.

802920