PROPERTY EXAMINATION: JOHN-X GROUPS

LOCATION: 92 H-10, 3 miles NW of Tulameen on Rabbit Mountain.

OWNER: Harold J. Adams, 294 Bridge Street, Princeton, B.C.
Box 1546 (see letter attached).

DESCRIPTION: Property is underlain by dark green, probably andesitic volcanic rocks of the Nicola Group (Upper Triassic). The showings on the John-X consist of disseminated to nearly massive pyrite and chalcopyrite within a prominent fault zone cutting the volcanics. The shear zone and mineralization has been exposed in two cut trenches about 1000 ft apart. Several other trenches in the immediate vicinity either have caved or failed to expose mineralization. The best mineralized width we saw was 3 to 4 feet.

CONCLUSIONS: Showings like this one are very common in the Nicola Group rocks, and probably occur as a result of remobilization of copper from the copper rich volcanics into zones of shearing or brecciation. There is no evidence that the mineralization on the John-X is of a more significant type, for example of porphyry copper or massive sulphide affiliation.

The property is therefore of little interest and we recommend that it should not be optioned.

ATTENTION: MR. J. G. SIMPSON

Dear Mr. Simpson:

I am writing in regards to a property that I would like to bring to your attention. This property consists of 23 units, now staked, and 8 Crown Grants. They are now called the John-X Groups, and are situated on Rabbit Mountain, 3 miles north-west of Tulameen, B. C.

This property consists of massive pyrite and chalcopyrite for 2500' long and 1500' wide, with a number of old trenches and adits. The assays go from 2% to 4.5% Copper, with Gold and Silver values, etc. Refer to the Memoir 243, Geology and Mineral Deposits of Princeton Map Area, page 96. See Red Bird, Spokane-Motherlode Group and Lloyd George Groups. The Crown Grants are next to the Cousin Jack. This property has had very little exploration work done since 1930.

There is easy access to the property by road. In order to arrange a field trip you can contact me at:
