CORANEX EXPLORATION LIMITED
Claim Holdings in British Columbia

INTRODUCTION

In the 1968 program for Coranex Exploration Limited, six groups of claims were staked in various parts of southern British Columbia to cover ground temporarily under investigation. These claim groups have been mentioned in prior reports; a brief summary will be given herein and the previous recommendations will be reiterated. The appendix of this report includes the lists of the claim data. The claim records are presently on file in the Vancouver office. No assessment work has been filed on any of these claims and so they lapse one year from the date of record.

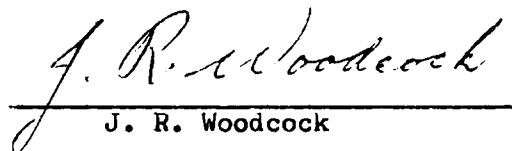

SUMMARY OF CLAIM GROUPS

1. The Mal group of six claims was staked by Mr. R. H. Janes, to cover some geochemical anomalies and mineralization at the head of Malksope Inlet. Subsequently, Can-Fer Mines Ltd. staked a large group of claims over and surrounding the Mal Group. Recommendations for possible further work are included in Mr. Janes' report on the Kyuquot Project, October 1968.
2. The Easy group of fifty-eight claims was staked along the west side of Kashutl Inlet, to cover an area of alteration which was slightly anomalous in molybdenum, and to cover a copper anomaly. As recommended in Mr. Janes' report on the Kyuquot Project, October 1968, no further work is warranted.
3. The Amai group of six claims was staked to cover a good molybdenum anomaly on the south shores of Kyuquot Sound. Mr. R. H. Janes prospected this area and found nothing of significance and in his report on the Kyuquot Project, October 1968, recommended no further work.
4. The twenty Cous claims were staked under the direction of Mr. R. H. Janes, to cover some copper mineralization near Port Alberni. As recommended in the report by J. R. Woodcock (December 1968), no further work is warranted.
5. The Spout group of six claims was staked by the writer to cover an airborne magnetic anomaly about 20 miles northeast of Lac La Hache. As mentioned in the monthly report of July 4th, 1968, no further work is warranted at the present time. However should the Peach Lake properties of Coranex Limited turn up a mine, then the remainder of the ring of magnetic anomalies, including the ground covered by the Spout claims, would be a good exploration target.

6. The seven Dragon claims, staked near Trail, British Columbia, cover a zinc anomaly. The recommendations for further work on this property are included in the report by J. R. Woodcock, November 5th, 1968.

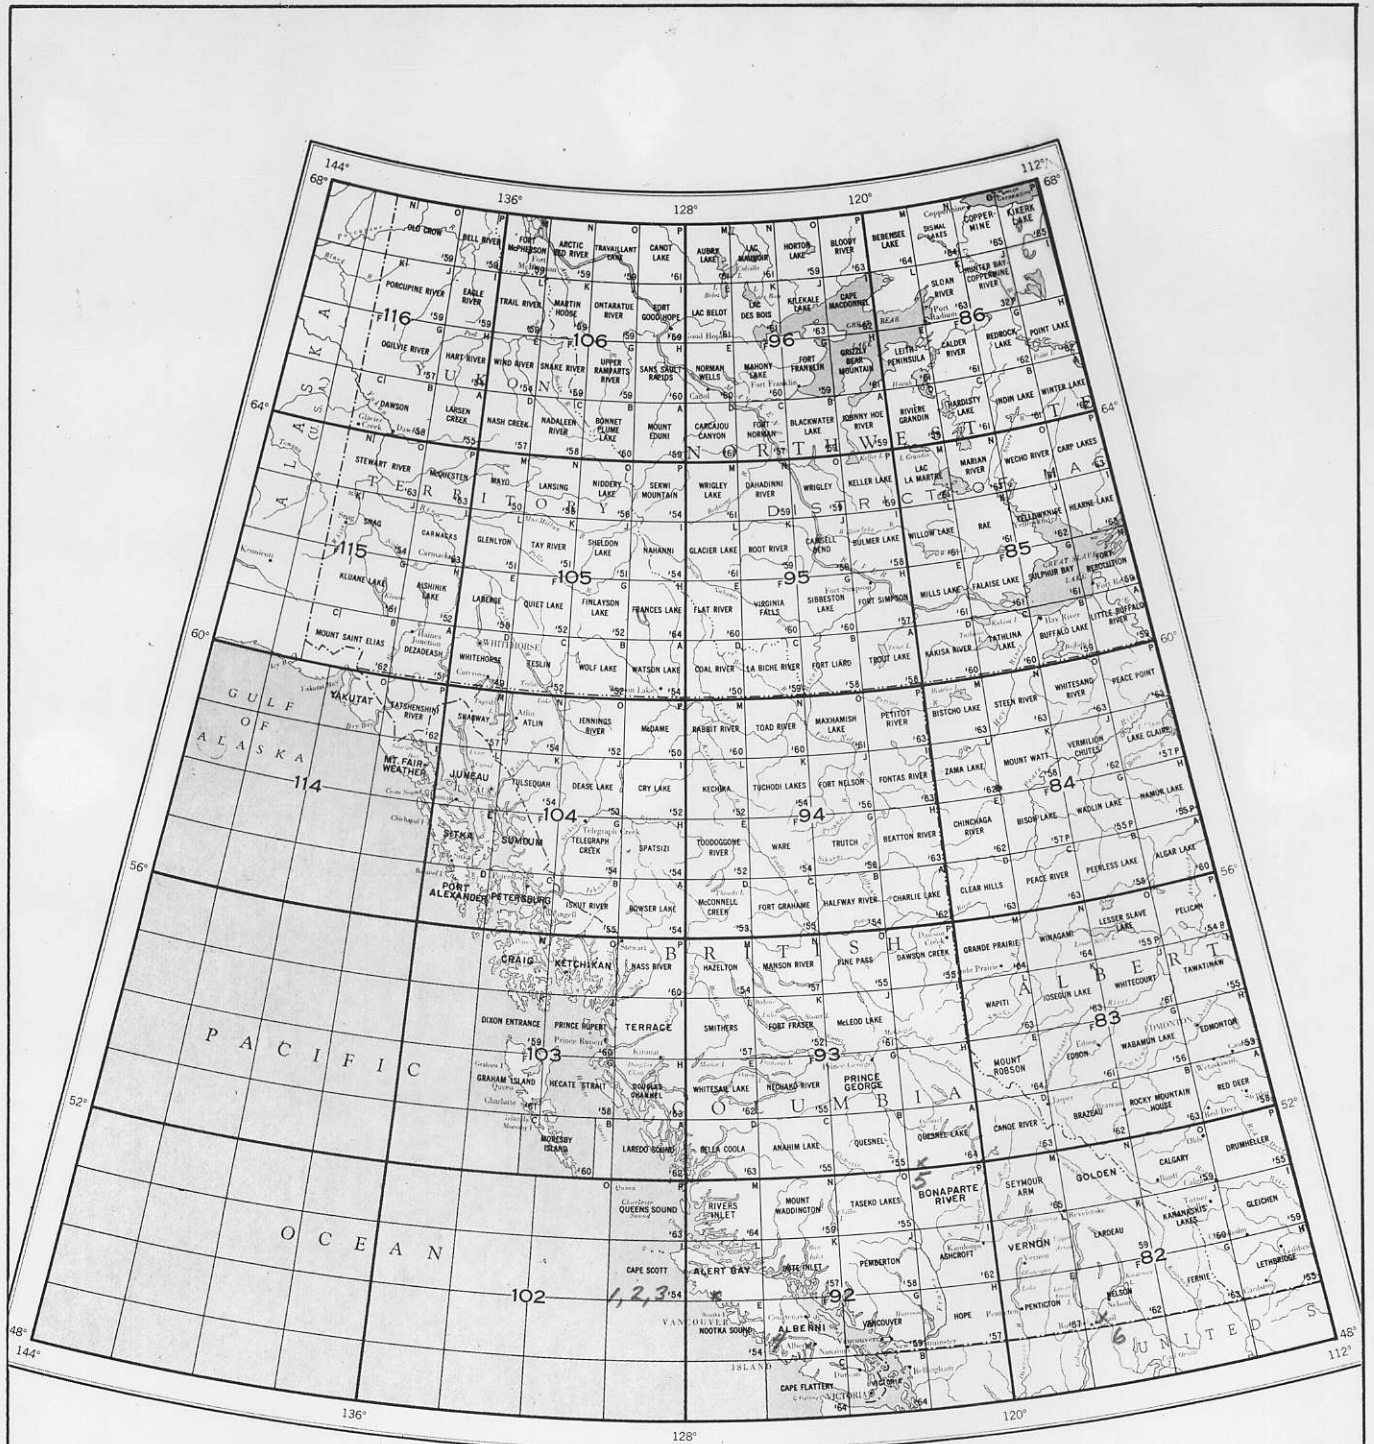

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Of the six groups of claims, only two have been recommended for further work -- the Mal Group (R. H. Janes) and the Dragon Group (J. R. Woodcock). The writer has not visited the Mal or Amai claims and would have liked to make recommendations based on a brief examination of the properties. However this was not possible in 1968.
