Great - thanks for sharing this with me. For the purposes of 'pigeon-holing' names of projects and estimated exploration expenditures, would you suggest using the all-encompassing name "Greenwood-Kettle River", or can you split them out to the nearest Minfile occurrences, as you have done in this reply? Good luck.

Hi Tom - right now we're focusing on 4 different areas - the Cyclops zinc showing (near the Oro Denoro), the Rathmullen zinc showing (near the BC Mine), the area south and southwest of the Phoenix pit (War Eagle, Rawhide) to follow-up several different targets in that area (large Au-Ag-As soil anomalies, epithermal "overprint" to the skarn and a nice x-cutting high grade Au-Cu vein), and finally we've got a team of prospectors out hitting the limestones N of Phoenix pretty hard, to see if we can find any more examples like the Summit/R Bell occurrence.

Thanks for your interest. We'll keep you posted as the summer progresses.

Linda

Hi, Linda - can you inform me what projects in the Greenwood area Kettle River has work planned on for 2007 (Stockwatch release, May 14/07)? Thanks.
