

INCLINE
ADIT

This is an aerial photograph of a mountainous region. The terrain is rugged, with a mix of dark green coniferous trees and lighter green, scrubby vegetation. Patches of snow are scattered across the landscape, particularly in the upper half and in shaded areas. A prominent feature is a dashed line drawn vertically across the center-right of the image, indicating a path or a specific geological feature. To the left of this line, the words 'INCLINE' and 'ADIT' are handwritten in black ink. The background shows a large, snow-covered mountain peak under a clear sky.

LAWSON (1985)

Looking westerly over LAWSON PROSPECT
- Incline Adit.