Jim - thanks for the speedy response. Sorry - can't make the 10th; but sounds like later or next year might be better, anyways. No point in stopping in Mackenzie on our way thru Mon. 12th late morning? We will be on our way back to PG. Will look forward to future info - keep in touch.

Tom:

It's too bad you can't get there on the 10th; Gary Belik and I will be spending the 11th, looking at anomalous areas. The problem is we don't have any results yet (expected between the 8th and 14th Sept) and frankly these are some of the deadest rocks I have ever seen. That was also my initial impression of Fraser Gold!. Paul Klipfel who probably knows more about sediment hosted vein deposits than anyone else will making a visit on the 19th (I think). If all goes well we will still be working here into October. Maybe a visit then would be better?

Regards
Jim

Hi, Jim. Bob Lane and I will be travelling out of the Toadoggone region on Monday, Sept. 12th and are wondering if we should plan on visiting your Mackenzie project that afternoon. We would be in Mackenzie by noon. Sorry for being so specific (pigeonholing); however, we're all busy. If that doesn't work for you or your field crew, we understand. If it's too early (this year) to warrant a visit, let us know - this is probably our only chance (Bob - maybe later?). Pls. leave an email message, as well as a voicemail (604-660-2812), when you can. Cheers,

Tom:

This would be much better for us, as hopefully by that time we will understand the geology and mineralization a little better and who knows?, we may actually have something to show you. I will get back to you with more specifics as we get closer to the date.

Best regards,
Jim

Jim, further to our telephone discussion yesterday, I would like to confirm our interest in visiting the Mackenzie project on either Sept. 12th or 13th, if possible. Bob and I will be travelling eastwards and southwards out of the Toadoggone region that weekend. Please let us know if this is possible at your convenience. Thanks - and Good Luck!
