C<sub>2</sub>C Mining Corporation Licences its Zeolite Encapsulation Technology

C<sub>2</sub>C Mining Corporation is pleased to announce it has licenced its zeolite encapsulation technology to Hytec Hydrocarbon Reclamation Ltd. of Calgary, Alberta.

C<sub>2</sub>C holds patents in Canada, United States, and Mexico for the encapsulation and stabilization of hazardous and radioactive wastes utilizing zeolite. This technology was developed as an effective, cost efficient system employing the unique characteristics of C<sub>2</sub>C's zeolite, mined from its extensive deposits near Cache Creek, British Columbia. C<sub>2</sub>C processes the zeolite at its plant located in Ashcroft, British Columbia.

The first full scale commercial application of the technology was completed in July by Hytec Hydrocarbon Reclamation Ltd.. The technology and application received all of the required environmental approvals. An additional contaminated site is currently undergoing C<sub>2</sub>C 's environmental remediation process and is expected to be completed by late September.

This technology can be utilized across many industry segments including the oil & gas industry, where it is currently being applied. C<sub>2</sub>C's zeolite technology can remediate contaminated sites for the petrochemical industry, mining and smelting industries, as well as the nuclear industry.

As this technology gains acceptance as a secure environmental alternative to landfill and burning waste, significant utilization will result in increased consumption of C<sub>2</sub>C 's zeolite resources.
