Description

Coarse placer gold was discovered at this famous British Columbia gold mine on Battlement Cr. in the 1930's. Lode gold deposits, not directly related to the placer, were subsequently mined at this mine. The geology, which is similar to the productive Pinson district in Nevada, USA, suggests the potential for a large tonnage deposit in this environment. The mine is considered to be a the north end of the high production Bridge River gold camp. Full selling price is US$15,000. For further details and location maps please see our web site.
