Yes, "We" have had (still do?) have issues with this property. Also - Rick Conte could probably supply some comments from the tenure aspects.

Expected: This one is going to grow at a rapid rate.

I nfinex Vent ures, I nc. (OT CBB: INF X) ("the Comp any") is pleased to announce that it is in negotiations to acquire an interest in the Boli var P roperty located on T exada Isl and, Briti sh Colum bia, Cana da. The Property consists of 23 adjacent mineral claims and 2 crown grants centered approximately 1.5 miles (2.4 km) west of the town of Vananda, B.C. Previous drilling programs have outlined a significant resource with a high concentration of g old. One di amond drill hole across the zone returned a one-foot (0.3 m) intersection assaying 20.84 oz/ton Gol d (714.5 g/t Gol d).

Trenching, diam ond drilling and b ulk test sampling of the Bolivar depos it has revealed numerous spectacular "streaks and stringers" of free go ld in graphitic shear zones. As per Assessment Report 16702, a 1734 tonne bul k sample from the Bolivar pit returned a total of 1031.14 grams of gol d. Infinex's pending acquisition of the Boli var Propert y is a strategic one that, along with the Compan y's interest in the Yew Property, will provide it with control of a substantial portion of the minin g properties and reserves on Texad a Isl and. Infinex intends to finalize this acquisition by the end of sept ember.

There are problems with what they call the quarry site and the mill site, there are also legal problems with the surface property owner, of the millsite (BBQ) I am not sure if the legal problems with the mill site are resolved. They also have some issues with claims on BBQ quarry site, but I am not sure if they are resolved.

Steve, from the Mineral Titles side of things, I have to caution about any comments because we don't know exactly which property is included within the 'Bolivar property'.

There are a number of issues involving the current and former holder of titles on Texada Island and adjacent /overlapping surface title holders, I believe that there is some outstanding legal issues between former partners or optionors and there are issues involving the limestone quarry and allegations that the limestone contains gold and therefore the limestone mining is damaging the gold resource,

Rick
