Indata Lake, BC (Wildrose 50% - Clear Creek Resources 50%): Previous exploration has outlined a copper-gold porphyry target of two km by 800 metres and a series of lode gold occurrences (best intersection being 20 feet of 1.3 oz. gold/ton). In 1995, Wildrose completed a trenching program which focused on the copper porphyry target but included trenching several other targets. Of particular interest was the discovery of a mineralized, intensively altered rock unit, about 300 metres east of the copper target. In January 1996, Wildrose granted Clear Creek an option to earn a 50% participating interest by spending $1,500,000 before July 2000. In February 1996, Clear Creek drilled six holes, intersecting sections of altered and mineralized rocks with wide sections of low grade copper mineralization. Clear Creek has since proposed a $200,000 program of additional drilling and induced polarization grid surveying of the target area. (SEE GCNL NO.53, 17Mar97, P.2 FOR PREVIOUS PROJECT REVIEWS)
