CORE (Copper-Silver) 39 Claims Units N.T.S. 93E/6

The CORE property, located at Whitesail Lake, south of Houston, British Columbia, holds good exploration potential for large tonnage reserves of copper and silver. Six widely separated mineral occurrences have been located in volcanic rocks, one of which, the Main Showing, has been traced for about 200 metres along strike. Three grab samples, each taken over a 3.3 metre width from the Main Showing average in grade 0.96 percent copper and 0.64 ounces per ton silver.

Further exploration is recommended, the next phase of which would consist of geophysical and geochemical surveys, as well as further property and geological mapping for a cost of $80,000.
